

Dear student,

Thank you for expressing an interest to study Design & Technology: Product Design at A-level and we look forward to meeting you in September.

During your studies you will cover many practical areas learning new skills, working with different materials and machinery, as well as building on the knowledge you already have to gain a better understanding of the subject as a whole.

Transition Task for Year 11 to 12 Design & Technology: Product Design

Choose a product/designer from the 'Iconic Designs' PowerPoint presentation and write a maximum of 500 words about the product/designer.

Points you might like to consider:

- What makes the design 'iconic'?
- When was the product first seen?
- What other products or types of products might the designer be well known for?
- What other products might have drawn their influence from your chosen product?
- What new or special technologies were used in either the product or the manufacture of the product?

You don't need to cover all of the above but have a go and do your best.

Good Luck!

Miss Weatherburn
