Newsletter

5th May 2023

Issue Number 15

Dear families,

It has been great to see the quality of the GCSE and A Level Art in their exams, with our students focusing on their final pieces to sit alongside their preparation. Mrs Wilson and the MFL team have also conducted the speaking exams, calmed nerves and helped our students have the best conditions in which to perform. Thank you to all our families who are helping Year 11 and Year 13 prepare for these important and imminent exams.

Thank you to the parent who has alerted us to the ParentPay minimum payment of £10 and how this was set too high for some families. This has been changed today to allow top ups from £1.

Our Student Leadership Team has given all tutor groups information on how to contribute to the 'Big Help Out' this weekend. Mrs Steadman has also shared the opportunities for Lady Lumley's students to get involved in the Coronation Celebrations.

There are, as ever, lots of opportunities for our students to get involved in teams, activities and leadership in school which you can read about in this newsletter. I am also proud to announce that Mrs Steadman was elected Deputy Mayor at last night's Town Council Meeting.

Lady Lumley's School wishes all our families a fantastic extra Bank Holiday weekend, although we know many parents/carers will be working.

Year 12 Apprenticeship Guidance

On Friday 5th May a representative from NYBEP visited Lady Lumley's Sixth Form to deliver a session to our Year 12 student regarding apprenticeships.

Students were informed about the various levels of apprenticeships, what they involve and the qualifications you can achieve.

A Year 12 student said "The session was very interesting, and I found out much more than I realised about apprenticeships. I am looking forward to the next session in June when we will be discussing how to research them and the skills and attributes that are needed for the application process".

April news from the Library

Welcome to the summer term! Of course it's not quite summer and there's still a nip in the air so the library isn't short of break and lunch time visitors. I thought I'd share some pictures of the various ways students are engaged in the library – they make use of computers (sometimes even for homework!) they play Genius Square and other logic puzzles; they do some mindful colouring; they play chess; and sometimes I catch them reading! Whatever they are engaged in, we always try to remember that the library is a place where they should feel comfortable and safe and so behaviour expectations are designed to keep it that way.

The display on the board as you enter the library highlights some of the new books in our collection. We have had several book tasting sessions with different year groups, and I've taken their comments about the books and created word clouds. I hope that students might use the display to help them choose a book to check out.

The book display asks students to think about a common theme in the collection – perhaps you can ask them what they think?

For most of us these would be “window books” – giving us an insight into lives that are different from our own. Reading these stories helps us to build empathy and broaden our understanding of the world.

Exam season is upon us and so access to the library will be curtailed. When students can't come to the library I plan to bring the library to them and I'll start by showing them how to access the library system using their own log in to increase their independence and use.

Happy reading! Donna Rueth

Spotlight on Life

Year 10 have been looking at what makes a relationship healthy, with lessons exploring the nuances around consent and the consequences for not seeking consent. Their approach has been mature and it has been impressive to hear their reasoned approach to a sensitive but important subject.

Lower down in school, Year 8 have been continuing to learn about different substances and their misuse, focusing on alcohol, tobacco, vaping and caffeine. I'd encourage you to ask your child about what they've learned about caffeine content, particularly in energy drinks and their short or long-term effects.

Year 10 and Year 12 will also have the opportunity to attend our upcoming careers fair on 22nd June, so watch out for more details about that in future newsletters.

Community Spirit

Both the Marketplace and Smiddy Hill in Pickering will be decorated this weekend and Lady Lumley's students and youth leaders at Pickering Youth group have helped out this time making pom poms with little crowns along with other community groups.

Careers Fair

We are holding a careers fair for students in Year 10 upwards on Thursday 22nd June and would love to invite local employers to attend and showcase the opportunities which are available to our students in the local area! If you work for a local company who would be interested in attending, please contact me on m.heeley@ll.coastandvale.academy to express your interest in attending and for further information.

We are keen to work with local businesses and employers in a variety of ways, so if you have any further suggestions or opportunities, do get in touch.

Statutory Proposals for the Amalgamation of Caedmon College Whitby and Eskdale School

In line with statutory requirements please follow the link below regarding Statutory Proposals for the Amalgamation of Caedmon College Whitby and Eskdale School, through the technical closure of Eskdale School as a separate entity, and an increase in the published admission number of Caedmon College Whitby. North Yorkshire Council have asked the school to share this information with parents and guardians of pupils at this school.

These proposals were published on 27 April 2023 and the representation period will run until 25 May 2023.
